Malissa davis

My name is Malissa Davis. I've suffered from abuse, drug addiction, and codependency, and today I can say I walk in freedom. I'm forty-eight years old and I have three kids, and two and one-half grandkids. I say half because Addie is not here yet. She is supposed to enter this world on November 13th. I'm so proud of all of them and blessed to be a part of all their lives. I didn't grow up with God in my life; I didn't even know if he was real. I lived a life full of anger, fear, and no self-worth. That was my belief-system at the time. I had no hope for the future. I didn't know if I would live to see the next day, but I always did. I now know that it was God's grace and mercy toward me. I made a lot of mistakes I lost my family and went to prison due to my life-style. I hurt a lot of people in that twenty five years, and I'm so thankful for the plan God has for me, and this new life I have today. I also want to thank Son Shine Lighthouse for opening the doors for me. I have never been given the opportunity to go to a rehab. My choices always ended in jail-time. While in prison this last time I became homeless, but God directed my steps all the way through to Son Shine Lighthouse and Ms. Debra opened the door, approving my stay there. I needed that year to learn that God had so much more instore for my life. It showed me the love of God firsthand. Son Shine was a different kind of structure than I had ever experienced. They loved on me, supported me and most of all they taught me how to believe in myself. I graduated in July, and am currently in a sober living home in Longview, Texas. I am employed at Favor Delivery. I have an active roll in the lives of my children and grandchildren, and God continues to restore those relationships daily. Thank you, Jesus, for giving me this new life, and a purpose for this journey through Son Shine Lighthouse Ministries
